

LADDER OF ENGAGEMENT

Empowerment

The local government gives the power to make a decision to the community.

Co-creation

The local government and community cooperate in order to create a solution or policy.

Involvement

The local government actively engages the community and commits to taking their input into consideration, but the final policy or solution design and decision-making power stay with the government.

Consultation

The local government invites the community to provide a non-binding feedback on a specific issue, pre-defined solution, or policy.

Informing

The local government shares transparent, relevant and up-to-date information with the community.
